The Darda is Trevecca . . . it is you. Its pages carry much more than the pictorial representation of your year at T.N.C. Listen carefully. The noise from the football field drifts across campus . . . the sound of a class in session and a professor lecturing . . . the busy chatter in a dorm . . . joyous praises lifted by a choir in an inspiring chapel service—these are Trevecca and they almost echo from the pages.

With the sincere hope that we have so recorded the feelings of today that such vivid memories may be recalled tomorrow, the staff presents the nineteen hundred and sixty-five edition of the Darda.

BECAUSE your life is a true example of Christianity in the deepest meaning;

BECAUSE you always have time to share with a student his joys or burdens;

BECAUSE as a teacher you are using your talents to further the work of God's Kingdom;

BECAUSE as a citizen you are tireless in your devotion to your family, church, school, and community;

BECAUSE of your unequaled interest and love for Trevecca Nazarene College; We gratefully dedicate the $1965\ Darda$ to you. . . .

TREVECKA-1768 Beconshire, Wales

YESTERDAY ...

The heritage of Trevecca Nazarene College dates back to Wales in 1768 when six students were expelled from Oxford University for participating in religious practices. Lady Huntington, being a religious person, began to take definite steps toward a plan which she had been contemplating for some time. She established a college for the purpose of training young ministers.

Rev. J. O. McClurkan, greatly impressed with the need for trained ministers and with the leadership of God, formally opened the doors of Trevecca to students in 1901. Like Lady Huntington, the foundation of planning and prayer had been laid years before his dream became a reality.

Impressed by the emphasis of Lady Huntington's school, he chose the name Trevecca and opened the school with the objective of training missionaries and Christian workers. It was then a distinct Bible training school.

The College was engaged in various relocations during its establishing years: one of these being the move in 1913 to the Gallatin Road location. Growth necessitated the change. The campus was located on the Warner Estate with a colonial mansion as its main building.

In 1935, Dr. Hardy leased the property at the present site, and the school purchased it three years later through the negotiations of Dr. Mackey. From the beginning the school was known for its success in scattering the Gospel over the U.S. and to foreign lands.

Though there were problems, financial and otherwise, there remained a strong faith. The Lord was smiling upon our leaders, and they were looking forward to bigger and better things.

The cafeteria changes its name to Bud Robinson Hall

The Entrance Way by night.

Today we are reaping all the benefits of the endeavors of our founders. Prayers, faith, and hard work have helped to mold our school into the institution that enjoys a reputable standing. Perhaps it has exceeded the expectations of those persons who put their lives into this center of learning.

These things of the past are not forgotten. They live on in our present traditions. The growth pattern of the college continues upward reaching more students and thus helping to meet the needs of humanity and preparing more persons for a life of service.

Our faculty plays a great part in this preparation. Trevecca enjoys a strong, well-equipped body of educators. The youth of our college are in trustworthy hands. Academic pursuits are encouraged among the student body. Excellence in this area signifies a desire to know what, to know why, and to know how—characteristics of the educated person.

Our present edifices are products of past dreams which resulted in growth and expansion and bear the names of those leaders who asked largely and trusted; such as, McClurkan Building and Hardy Hall. The most recent addition is the newly constructed women's residence, Johnson Hall.

Trevecca is a product of the past in her present tradition, and she is the link to the future—standing at present at the mid-point—with one hand reaching to the past and the other extended to the future.

Tidwell Hall, men's residence, receives a new roof.

Men's Dormitory

TOMORROW..

The future of Trevecca is brighter than it has ever been in the past. According to a ten-year projection study, expansion is to reach a height unthought of heretofore.

The beginning of the proposed projection of campus building is scheduled for the fall of 1965, with two new dormitories ready for occupancy: one men's dormitory and the completion of the second floor of the cafeteria to be used temporarily as a women's dormitory. This building is the future Student Union building. By the fall of '66, two additional dormitories, one for men and one for women, will have been constructed. The multi-purpose building (combination auditorium, seating 1200 and complete with physical education facilities) is in the plans for '67, and the science building is the proposed addition for '68.

According to the projections of the Research in the area of curriculum expansion, by 1975, nine majors and three additional minors will be added. Additions of courses in the 10-year projection will be between 390 and 400 college hours, which is a 50% increase, requiring approximately 30 new faculty members. The enrollment is expected to reach 1400.

There has been a process of broadening the number of hours in courses in the direction of four-and-fivehour concentration. This will ultimately do away with most two-hour courses, and the gulf between semester hours and quarter hours will then be gapped.

At the termination of the 10 years, the library is expected to be equipped with 90,000 volumes, complete with an audio-visual department. An annual acquisition of 6,200 volumes is the goal.

Also, to meet the larger need and demand of the people on the zone, a plan for a nurses training program is being instituted in the near future, as well as the expansion of the Economics department into a department of Economics and Business Administration.

Dr. Greathouse's purpose is to build a strong academic school and, at the same time, keep the genius of Trevecca's spirituality.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The sixteenth General Assembly and conventions of the Church of the Nazarene convened in Portland, Oregon, in June, 1964.

The Assembly opened with a communion service with 21,000 present. This was the largest gathering in the history of the Church of the Nazarene and of the Portland Coliseum.

Included in the General Assembly and conventions were the following: Dr. George Coulter, former Executive Secretary of the Department of Foreign Missions, was elected General Supt. Dr. E. S. Phillips was elected Executive Secretary of the Department of World Missions, succeeding Dr. Coulter. Mrs. Gordon Olsen was elected President of the General N.F.M.S. Rev. John Hancock was elected N.Y.P.S. President. He is the first from the southeast zone to serve in this capacity. Re-elected was Mr. Paul Skiles, Secretary of the General N.Y.P.S.

Also, one of the major decisions of the General Assembly was the authorization of two new Nazarene colleges on the junior level.

The theme of the next quadrennium was proclaimed by the inspirational platform banners: "In The Power of the Spirit—Preach, Teach, Live, Win."

MAURICE GRIGGS, JR., Student Council Lectures

Each day a period of spiritual refreshing is enjoyed by our students. Thoughts are turned to God, away from the rush and the hurry of busy activities. It is a time when our petitions can be brought to God in the security of the entire chapel group. The fallen are lifted, the stumbling find more stable ground, and the discouraged find bright hope.

This year has been of special significance. The variety of speakers and programs—visiting pastors, evangelists, superintendents, missionaries, and political leaders—have combined to give us a very interesting and informative, as well as enlightening, chapel series. We are grateful to Mr. Strickland for his excellent program planning.

OUR PRESIDENT

Since its founding in 1901 Trevecca Nazarene College has been imbued with a spirit of Christian service. This has been its genius and reason for existing—to inspire and educate young people to serve.

Our students and our graduates have been motivated by the love of God to dedicate themselves to serve humanity in the spirit of Him who said, "Even the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

Increasingly, however, to serve God and man involves more than dedication. It requires intelligence, sensitivity, the wisdom that comes from drinking at the fountain of history, philosophy, and literature. It demands the mastery of the skills of communication, the knowledge of languages both ancient and modern, an understanding of the principles of psychology and sociology. The highest and most effective Christian service calls for a truly liberal education—a full acquaintance with the Word of God and an appreciation of the great body of knowledge garnered by the scientists and thinkers of the race.

The twin ideals of Trevecca Nazarene College therefore are deep spirituality and true learning. The God of redemption revealed in the Bible and supremely in Christ is the God of creation revealed in nature. Ultimately, therefore, truth is one, and it becomes the task of Christian liberal arts education to demonstrate this fact. Trevecca Nazarene College exists to provide education of high quality in a Christian environment. It seeks to provide a climate where both spirituality and learning may grow—and to the one end that young men and women may go from the College both inspired and educated "to serve the present age."

Division of Languages, Literature and Fine Arts

The scholars in this division endeavor to acquaint the collegians with the "greats" in the classics in the fields of literature and music.

They seek to challenge the minds of the students and to cultivate the desire to learn in equipping them for their professional fields. Included in this department are foreign languages, which help to broaden one's educational experiences.

Each growing function needs an able and capable body of leaders at its center. And certainly our Student Council is a vital part of the progress of the student body. The planning of programs, the race for class and club of the year, and just everything that involves the student body finds its way to the Student Council. They are our leaders; they represent the students. We commend them on a fine display of talent, leadership, and cooperation.

Time to just relax and chat together.

In an effort to promote the understanding between faculty and students and to enhance this relationship, the Student Leadership Conference convenes. Free and open discussion on student life and its improvement is paramount in their discussions. Faculty and students express their views in an informal atmosphere which can only result in a better college.

Dorm Council

The Dorm Council is an organization which adds that little "extra" to dorm life. They help to make our temporary home more pleasant. The council is composed of Dr. Wise, Dean of Students, the four head residents, and students from each dorm.

The Darda staff of 1965 has had the sole purpose of producing for you an accurate account of this year's history of Trevecca in a manner which you will not easily forget. We hope that you will return to your Darda years hence and find its pages just as thrilling as the day of presentation.

We have attempted to present social, academic, and spiritual aspects of our college in the most realistic fashion. This book is for you; we hope you enjoy it.

A Vision of TNC Class of 1965

From where I stand I see the road of life; The wicket-gate, its entrance, stands ajar, And on that road this graduating class Has started toward their destinies afar.

I see both good and ill before their feet;
And visions high and low their minds pursue,
And over me there comes the chill of fear:
I almost dread to watch what they will do.

They pass the tempting prizes of the world:
The prize of fame, of wealth, of gold, of stone;
I pray to God that He will guide them through.
They pause, but, thank the Lord they travel on.

They press along; the class becomes dispersed,
For they to differnt ways of life are led.
Through some the coffers of the church are filled;
Through some the Master's hungry lambs are fed.

And as they travel farther from this hour
The roads of distant lands their footfall know
Our Graduates have harkened to the Lord
And set the world with Heaven's light aglow.

Beyond the line of worlds I see them pass.

Their tasks are finished and they homeward go.

Now through the arch of Heaven two by two

They pass with garments washed as white as snow.

IN MEMORIAM

PROMISED SUNRISE

Shadows softly slipping, Bathe the earth in tender glow, Heralding the sunset, For all creatures here below. Gathering shades of nightfall Obscure the beauty of the day, But because of even's sunset Comes sunrise, another day. When loved ones fain would leave us. And sorrow's shadows hang so low, 'Tis then we should remember The beauty of after glow. And to our gaze uplifted, The sun in western sky, Breathes a parting promise Of a morning bye and bye. So these our friends and classmates In soft tones are calling yet, "I'll meet you with the sunrise," Because first there was sunset.
